

Junior Designer

Based: London

We are looking for two junior designers with a passion for design.

Creating outstanding e-learning, you will report to the Head of Design whilst maintaining strong working relationships with a creative team to achieve outstanding results.

If you love design and have a deep understanding of user interface design, then this may be the role for you!

If this sounds like you, you will need the following skills/ experience:

- A university degree from a creative field and or 1 years work experience in a similar environment
- Demonstrable build skills with a portfolio of proven work on an online website or any other work representative of your skills
- Excellent knowledge of HTML, CSS, JavaScript and jQuery
- High attention to detail and ability to manage your own time

Ideally you will also have:

- A working knowledge of SCORM formats and API's
- Experience debugging using developer tools and extensions
- An understanding of motion design and video editing
- Experience working with client branding guidelines
- Some knowledge of Flash and Actionscript

Why do I want to work here?

You will be working for a market leading, global organisation, which is fast growing in the learning technologies sector. Eukleia is part of the Learning Technologies Group. LTG are specialist learning technology businesses that are at the forefront of innovation and industry leading. The brands range from exciting video games companies to leading software and standards companies.

Eukleia provides training services in the area of governance, risk and compliance. Our clients include eight top ten banks as well as world leading asset managers, insurers and commodity firms. We pride ourselves on excellence, attention to detail and initiative. Our offices are dynamic and our colleagues are proud to work in an environment that is challenging and rewarding.

How do I apply?

Get in touch with us via the email address below and tell us how you could add value to Eukleia and most importantly, what makes you suitable for this role.

careers@ltgplc.com